

Can New Haven become a sustainable city?

A forum... with some answers.

Panelists include:

- Karyn Gilvarg, Director, City of New Haven City Plan Dept.
- Heidi Green, President, 1000 Friends of Connecticut
- Bill Hosley, Executive Director, New Haven Museum & Historical Society
- Colleen Murphy-Dunning, Director, Urban Resources Initiative
- Julie Newman, Ph.D., Sustainability Director, Yale University
- Jerome Ringo, President, The Apollo Alliance; Past Chairman of the Board, National Wildlife Federation

Moderated by Michael Donoghue, Director, Peabody Museum of Natural History and G. Evelyn Hutchinson Professor of Ecology and Evolutionary Biology

Come be a part of a community conversation on:

- How to build a stronger economy for ALL of New Haven.
- The role of cultural resources in fostering civic engagement and a sense of place.
- How we can foster sustainable urban planning and smart growth.
- Urban ecosystems: the role of tree canopy in a sustainable city.
- How large institutions can become more sustainable and contribute to a sustainable community.

When: Thursday, October 4, 2007

Where: Peabody Museum, 170 Whitney Ave. (3rd Floor)

Time: 6-8:30pm

Refreshments will be provided, but space is limited.

RSVP by Oct. 1 to Emily Byrne at EByrne@newhavenct.net or (203) 946-6377.

YALE UNIVERSITY

Peabody Museum of Natural History

NATIONAL
CONVERSATION
ON CLIMATE
ACTION

OCT. 4, 2007

CLEAN
AIR

COOL
PLANET